

Have you ever felt pressured to make choices that don't align with your values? As the world's values continue to drift, we need to be equipped with the resources to handle whatever life throws at us. In this eight part series based on the life of Daniel we will discover how to handle some of life's most difficult situations. The principles that guided Daniel through dangerous life choices will help us learn how to respond when we feel pressured in our lives to make wrong choices.
